

Visiting Research Track

Appointees to this track must have employment responsibilities with another institution of higher education and are usually on leave from that institution. (e.g. here for a six month sabbatical.) Visiting Research Faculty appointments indicates that the individual is working for a limited portion of his/her time (part-time) on a research project housed in the University of Michigan Medical School.

Visiting Research Investigator: A person appointed to the position of Visiting Research Investigator must hold a doctoral degree or its equivalent in professional and technical experience and typically has completed two or more years of postdoctoral work. The typical candidate for this position is someone whose scholarly reputation is equivalent to a person who has recently completed a Ph.D. or M.D. and/or postdoctoral training and demonstrates evidence of potential for scholarship. Candidates for Visiting Research Investigator are not expected to have a record of institutional citizenship or teaching, although achievement in these areas is a welcome addition.
